DEVELOPING STEPS

The project is developed in five steps within four zones. Agriculture can provide a new contact between the inhabitants and the fields. The purpose of an Education Centre is to raise the awareness of the local people in agricultural activities, a kind of knowledge offered by the local farmers. The project builds upon the proposition of a new identity for the area, carried through the development of the local industry. Initial connection between the inhabitants and urban agriculture is created by proposing activities like community gardens and a seed bank, spaces that people can share and work collaborative for the benefit of the city itself. The new concept would physically and connect the old structures of the site and be the motive for the economic prosperity of the farmers.
